Why Organic?

Seven in ten Americans express some concerns about the health risks of pesticides, hormones, antibiotics and other chemicals used in food production. Growing crops in healthy soils results in food products that offer healthy nutrients. There is evidence that organically grown fruits, vegetables and grains may offer more nutrients, including vitamin C, iron, magnesium and phosphorus. Organic products minimize exposure to nitrates and pesticides that are commonly found when utilizing synthetic pesticides and fertilizers.

Don Pancho Authentic Mexican Foods is proud to be organically certified by Oregon Tilth, one of the leading certification agencies in the U.S. All of our tortillas feature certified organically grown ingredients. Customers will enjoy the great taste, texture, and quality of ingredients in Don Pancho Organic Tortillas. You'll enjoy the opportunity to offer your customers the superior products that they crave, from a brand name that they trust, and tap into the tremendous growth potential of organic foods!
